Toyota Announces $240 Million Investment at Buffalo Plant

Long known for providing the get-up-and-go for many of Toyota's most popular vehicles, Toyota West Virginia (TMMWV) announced on Thursday, November 11, a new $240 million investment to add a dedicated production line of hybrid transaxles.

The new hybrid transaxle line investment will provide new equipment and operational upgrades to modernize the facility. One important result of the new line is that it will allow TMMWV team members to diversify their skillset and play a larger role in Toyota's future producing electric vehicles in North America.

"Toyota West Virginia

is preparing for future market needs as demand increases in the area of vehicle electrification," said Srimi Matam, president of TMMWV. "The investment will fund targeted improvements that will increase our flexibility and competitiveness, allowing us to be in a better position to directly respond to shifting customer demand for higher efficiency vehicles."

Hybrid vehicle systems combine two separate sources of propulsion or motive power, such as an internal combustion

Elected Officials Celebrate U.S. Route 35 Completion

Gov. Jim Justice, U.S. Senator Shelley Moore Capito, U.S. Senator Joe Manchin, and U.S. Congresswoman Carol Miller joined with leaders in the Federal Highway Administration and the West Virginia Department of Transportation for the grand opening of the final 4-lane section of U.S. Route 35 in a ceremony conducted in Putnam County near the Buffalo Bridge on Thursday, November 11. The highway is now 4-lane for its entire 417 miles between Michigan City, Indiana and Scott Depot. The upgrade of U.S. 35

to four lanes has been an ongoing project since the collapse of the Silver Bridge over the Ohio River at Point Pleasant in 1968. Before the bridge fell, U.S. 35 carried traffic through Mason and Putnam counties on what is now State Route 62.

"Route 35 has been a major infrastructure priority for me since I was first elected to the House of Representatives, so I'm elated to see it finally come to completion," Senator Capito said. "This project is the culmination of years of federal, state, and local teamwork."

Senator Capito has personally secured $105 million in congressionally directed spending for

Take the Best Shot at Preventing Accidental Poisonings While Hunting

When the fall chill hits the air, hunters take to the woods for hunting season. The West Virginia Poison Center recommends these safety tips for hunters and their families.

Gun maintenance

Gun cleaning products can be dangerous if swallowed. Liquid gun blue products are particularly harmful as they can cause serious burns and life threatening injury. Store all gun related products in locked cabinets up, away, and out of sight of children and pets. When products are out and in use, keep children and pets away to prevent accidental exposure while the user is busy. Adults can avoid injury while using these products by wearing protective gloves and washing their hands after use. Make sure to get rid of used bottles and cleaning rags in a place where children and pets cannot get them. Even a small amount can cause harm.

Ammunition

Swallowing lead bullets could put a person at risk for lead poisoning. Keep all ammunition, guns, and reloading supplies locked up, away, and out of sight when not in use. Wash hands after handling all supplies.

Waterproofing supplies

Waterproofing supplies can cause breathing difficulties if used incorrectly and can be toxic if swallowed. Use waterproofing products in well ventilated areas away from children and pets. Make sure the item is completely dry before storing inside an enclosed space.

Carbon monoxide

Carbon monoxide is an invisible killer. Hunters can be exposed to carbon monoxide if they are using generators, heating products, or cooking devices in enclosed or unventilated spaces, like a tent. To prevent carbon monoxide poisoning, follow product directions for use in well ventilated areas.

Game handling

After killing wild game, properly field dress and cool the meat as soon as possible to decrease the risk of food poisoning. Be sure to cook all game meat thoroughly and do not allow it to sit for prolonged periods without proper storage.

The Way We Were, The Way We Are

By Brenda Burke

As we enter the time of Thanksgiving and Christmas, I would like to encourage my readers to remember those children who won't be fortunate this year... especially with parents out of work due to the Pandemic.

The Hurricane High Alumni Group just sent a check to Hurricane High School to Principal Josh Caldwell... he is making sure the money is used for students who need it... THANK YOU Principal Caldwell for being so caring about your kids...

I would like to encourage those of you who have a little extra... even different class groups who graduated from HHS... to give back... send a check or give cash to the schools in Hurricane... the middle school, high school, or elementary schools... it will be used purposely...

When we were growing up, I don't remember there being such a difference in the haves and the have nots... we all were middle class although I imagine my family would not have been classified as such today... Mother scrimped to feed us, and I know she did without much to make sure we had nice clothes... I learned how difficult it was when I had children of my own...

We attended school at Hurricane Elementary... I do remember the kids who could afford it went to the cafeteria while those of us with home lunches ate in the classrooms. My meal was the same usually... bologna on white Heiner's bread, and apple, and a lunch cake... usually a snowball... and water... I did not like white milk at all. That little lunch box sat on a shelf in the room, waiting for me... I can't imagine what happened to the bologna in the heat of the day, but I didn't think about such things. I was never a big eater, so I probably never finished my lunch...

Oh, yes... we went down to the Candy Shop in the basement to grab a penny canny... that was a real treat... thank goodness they don't do that today with the obesity in the schools... but back then, we didn't think... we just enjoyed... we worked off the calories on the playground at noon and recess... well, actually, I read a book while the others enjoyed the monkey bars and running around playing ball... I never liked the heat or the dust...

Memories... the other day, my grandsons and I were listening to scary stories on YouTube... this little girl wished that every day could be her birthday... she got her wish and day by day she grew older year by year. I told the boys that it had been that way for Nana. YESTERDAY, I was fifteen and dating their Grandpa... now I am 74 and old (ancient is one of their vocabulary words)... I looked down at my hands, and I said to them, "Look at Nana's hands... they are so so old..." One of them asked, "Is that okay, Nana?" I replied, "Yes, it is... I am happy to be on this journey watching you grow up. Remember when you have children of your own to tell them that your Nana grew old enjoying you... and that she loved you more than life..." Memories... Journey of life...

This holiday, little ones won't have what they need... high school kids won't ask... so if you can find it in your heart, perhaps in memory of your loved ones... give a little to the schools, so that they can make sure the children have a good holiday... I know that churches do this also... because the way we were is the way we are now... caring about others and loving each other...

The Great American Smoke Out By Dr. Donald Reed, Jr., WV Spit-It Out Project

The American Cancer Society sponsors the Great American Smoke Out on the third Thursday of November (November 18), challenging smokers to give up cigarettes for 24 hours. If you or a loved one smokes cigarettes, consider joining the movement, and take the first step toward quitting cigarettes forever!

In WV 25.3% of adult smoke, compared to 16.1% in the USA; 5.7% of adults in WV use e-cigarettes and 8.3% of adults in WV use smokeless tobacco. Smoking-caused health care costs: $1.00 billion per year.

Quitting smoking is one of the most important actions people can take to improve their health. This is true regardless of their age or how long they have been smoking. Quitting Smoking: reduces the risk for many adverse health effects, including poor reproductive health outcomes, cardiovascular diseases, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), and cancer; benefits people already diagnosed with coronary heart disease or COPD; benefits the health of pregnant women and their fetuses and babies; and reduces the financial burden that smoking places on people who smoke, healthcare systems, and society.

While the Great American Smoke Out Focuses on quitting cigarettes – we encourage all tobacco users – smokeless, snuff, chewing tobacco, e-cigarettes or those who vape to quit too!

The WV Tobacco Quitline offers free phone coaching and in some cases, free nicotine replacement therapy – call 800-QUIT-NOW today!

Over the last 36 months, West Virginia has received 20 times more discretionary highway funds than it did during the prior five years. That funding includes a $20 million discretionary grant for widening the I-64 Nitro-St. Albans Bridge.

“What you see here today is a tremendous achievement,” Gov. Justice said. “I thank everybody that put into reality; to make all this goodness happen.”

The grand opening ceremony featured musical performances by General Admission, the Winfield High School Show Choir; the Black Knight Marching Band from Point Pleasant High School; and the Marching Generals from Winfield High School.

trouble ends, so I'll just grow into the uniform.” Andrew was captured in 1864 near Lexington, Virginia, and later released.

When the Civil War ended, Andrew returned to Griffithsville where he married Minerva Hager. To this union were born four sons and five daughters: Belva Dora (1869-1871), Leora (1871-1954), Rachel (1874-1890), William Leander (1878-1966), Victor (1881-1943), Emma Jane (1885-1952), Benjamin Franklin (1886-1970), Froude Homer (1889-1964), and Margie (1894-1960).

About 1900, Andrew moved from the Trace Fork area to Putnam to Hurricane, where he practiced his trade as a black smith. Sometime prior to World War I, he purchased and moved to a large farm about two miles east of Hurricane which surrounded the intersection of what are now U.S Route 60 and WV Route 34. He continued to blacksmith till he was past 80 years old and died in 1939. His son, Frank operated the farm.

Frank Spurlock married Tressa Holcomb in 1915. They were blessed with two sons and two daughters, all of whom are now living: Inez Victoria (1916), Wendell Esmond (1918), Wanda Adele (1923), and Eldon Franklin (1926). Frank operated the farm, a trucking business, and later a general store and service station. He died in 1970 at the age of 84. Tressa Spurlock died in 1981 at the age of 90.

Inez Spurlock married Harold Willis and they were the parents of one daughter, Joyce Ann. They operated a construction equipment and supply business in Tucson, Arizona, where Inez, now a widow, resides.

Esmond (Bud) Spurlock married Delores Westfall and to them were born three sons and four daughters: Robert, Joseph, David, Mary, Deborah, Susan, and Jeannie. Bud served in the U.S. Army Air Force in World War II and was critically injured in a plane crash. He worked in various industrial plants and later operated furniture stores in several locations in the western states. He now resides in Clearlake Oaks, California, with his wife the former Donna Musselman, who is retired from the Bell Telephone System. Wanda Spurlock married Harry Suttle and to them were born one son, James Harry, and two daughters, Marilyn Jan and Teresa Jill. Wanda is an accountant and has been office manager for Landers Chevrolet in Hurricane for over 25 years. Harry was a barber and operated shops in St. Albans for over 35 years. He is retired and they reside in St. Albans.

Franklin Spurlock married Elene Gothard and to them were born one son, Samuel Stephan, and one daughter, Margaret Elene. Franklin served in the U.S. Navy in World War II at three Naval Air Stations and aboard the light cruiser USS Oklahoma City. He retired in 1986 as Area Director for the U.S. Department of Labor, where he had jurisdiction over West Virginia and part of Virginia. Elene was employed by the WV Department of Natural Resources. They now reside in Huntington.

Toyota Announces $240 Million Investment at Buffalo Plant

engine and an electric motor, to take advantage of their respective benefits while also compensating for their respective limitations. While a hybrid system adds vehicle mass with the addition of components and is more complex than a conventional vehicle, the same system allows the vehicle to be more efficient and a hybrid transaxle can effectively transfer power seamlessly between the engine, electric motor and wheels in any number of combinations.

Toyota has committed to offering an electrified option across its entire lineup of both Toyota and Lexus vehicles by 2025. Advancing its production of electrified vehicles and their components, such as these hybrid transaxles, plays a part in helping Toyota to achieve its goals for carbon neutrality.

In fact, alternative-powered vehicles (APVs) – made up of hybrids, plug-ins, fuel cells and batteries – are nothing new for Toyota, as the company has put more electrified powertrains on U.S. roads than all other automakers combined and has remained the leading manufacturer and seller of APVs for 21 consecutive years.

Toyota's West Virginia team has and continues to play an active and important role in Toyota's manufacturing operations in the U.S., through a series of expansions and updates since it was established.

“This project is more than just a new product. It demonstrates the need for TMMWV and our path forward as we increase our powertrain capabilities to better support Toyota Motor North America's growing manufacturing footprint by building vehicles where we sell,” adds Matam.

Today's announcement comes on the heels of another recent plant expansion. In February, TMMWV announced a $210 million investment and added 100 new jobs to expand capacity of its four-cylinder and V6 engine lines.

“Toyota has long been an outstanding corporate partner and engine for economic growth in our state,” said West Virginia Gov. Jim Justice. “I'm proud knowing that it'll be West Virginians helping lead the way as Toyota continues to invest in future technologies and products that'll help get our friends and neighbors to their destinations more efficiently and safer than ever before.”

Senator Joe Manchin, former governor of West Virginia, had the following thoughts on today's news.

“Every year on Veterans Day, I'm honored to pay tribute to our Veterans who gave so much to protect our nation and to our Gold Star families. Our brave Veterans are the glue that holds our nation, our state and our communities together. Their service and sacrifices will never be forgotten. Toyota Manufacturing West Virginia has been a strong partner for 25 years, and their commitment to employing our Veterans when they return home and investing in Veterans organizations through generous donations shows their dedication to the Mountain State and our people. Today's special commemoration shows that Americans and West Virginians love our Veterans and those who have sacrificed for our great country. May God continue to bless our great state and all those who fought to keep our nation free,” Manchin said.

Senator Shelley Moore Capito said she was delighted by the announcement, and she looks forward to seeing Toyota continue to thrive in West Virginia.

“Toyota's presence in West Virginia represents more than just good jobs. It's also a company that has committed to improving our economy and investing in our workforce for more than two decades. I'm thrilled that the Buffalo plant is making this meaningful investment, which demonstrates the company's ability to continue incorporating additional technologies that will advance their production. West Virginia has a long and productive relationship with Toyota, and this announcement today further solidifies their commitment to investing in our state and our workers,” Senator Capito said. “In the meantime, I will continue doing all I can to make sure our West Virginia workers – like those at the Toyota Buffalo plant – are protected. Earlier this week, I made my intentions known to put forth an amendment that would eliminate an unfair special interest subsidy in the Democrats' reckless tax-and-spend spree should the legislation move forward. We should not be prioritizing some American workers over others, and this amendment will allow our hardworking West Virginians to compete on a level playing field.”

TMMWV annually produces about 1 million engines and transmissions for many North American-assembled vehicles. This year marks its 25th anniversary from groundbreaking, and it has since been expanded or received new investment 11 times.

In addition to today's investment announcement, Toyota celebrated Veterans Day by recognizing veterans employed at the plant and by making three donations to local veterans' support groups. Toyota donated $75,000 each to Gold Star Mothers of West Virginia, The Fisher House at the Hershel Woody Williams VA Medical Center in Huntington and The Woody Williams Foundation.

Never stop being a good person because of bad people.

Remember whenever you're in a position to help someone, be glad and always do it because that's God answering someone else's prayers through you.

The person you took for granted today, may turn out to be the person you need tomorrow. Be careful how you treat people.

Think about your giving and whether you are in the "have to" or the "want to" category.

When people ask what you do, don't tell them; show them what you do.

Our temporary stewardship will determine our permanent ownership.

Just because someone carries it well does not mean the load is not heavy.

One day you'll look back and realize that you worried too much about things that don't really matter.

You can trust God with tomorrow because He was faithful yesterday.

Train your mind to be stronger than your feelings.

Art is the closest we can come to understanding how a stranger really feels.

The steward needs an open hand to receive from God and then an active hand to give to God and to others.

Sometime you can get so busy trying to be everyone else's anchor that you don't even realize you are actually drowning.

Never give up on a dream just because of the time it will take to accomplish it. The time will pass anyway. - Earl Nightingale

Don't judge people for the decisions they make when you don't know the options they had to choose from.

There are three of you. There is the person you think you are. There is the person others think you are. There is the person God knows you are and can be through Christ.

Be careful in your treatment of others with your words and actions; how you make people feel always has a way of returning back to you.

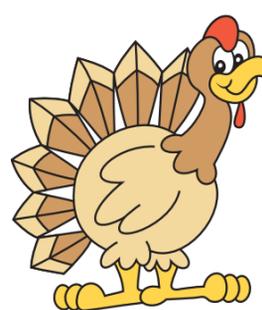

May you become filled with so much happiness, you glow.

The only people without problems are those in cemeteries.

Life is supposed to be an adventure, a surprise.

Don't ever lose the spark that makes you.

Never dim your light because it's shining too bright in someone else's eyes.

I hope today, you laugh a little louder, shine a little brighter and live a little louder.

Never take advice from those who only see your mistakes.

Believe your instinct; it doesn't lie.

Kindness makes you the most beautiful person in the world no matter what you look like.

Some people don't understand that sitting in your own house in peace, eating snacks and minding your own business is priceless.

Never give up on what you really want to do. The person with big dreams is more powerful than one with all the facts. - Albert Einstein

One of the biggest misconceptions is that we often think we have a lot of time; the truth is we don't.

The only people who get upset when you set boundaries, are those who benefit from you having none.

Those who use people as their stepping stones eventually will trip and fall.

Faith is the ability to see the light beyond darkness.

Let's appreciate what we have now, before the pages of life start teaching us to appreciate what we had.

Your degree is just a piece of paper; your education is seen in your behavior.

Unless we walk through life perfectly, who are we to judge.

Spread sprinkles of kindness where ever you go.

If you think education is expensive, try ignorance.

The purpose of education is to replace an empty mind with an open one.

A Vicks vapor rub truck turned over on the highway. Amazingly, there was no congestion for eight hours.

Every woman deserves a man who will look at her each day like she is the most amazing woman he's ever laid eyes on.

Someone once asked me, "Why do you always insist on taking the hard road?" I replied, "Why do you assume I see two roads?"

Energy and persistence conquer all things. - Benjamin Franklin

A gentle word, a kind look, a good natured smile can work wonders and accomplish miracles.

The thankful receiver bears a plentiful harvest.

Always keep that happy attitude. Pretend that you are holding a beautiful fragrance bouquet. - Earl Nightingale

Others have seen what is and asked why. I have seen what could be and asked why not. - Pablo Picasso

Poetry is when an emotion has found its thoughts and the thought has found words. - Robert Frost Kindness can become its own motive. We are made kind by being kind.

You don't need a lot of friends, just the right ones.

When you carry a grudge, it ends up defining you.

Next to excellence is the appreciation of it.

Not everyone likes you, but not everyone matters.

Somewhere, someone else is happy with less than you have.

Biggest lesson: don't ever think it can't happen to you.

The proper term for 'senior' women should be Queen-agers.

Behind every husband who thinks he wears the pants is a woman who told him which pants to wear.

You know you're getting old when your knees give a more accurate weather forecast than the weather man.

It's okay for you to believe what you believe, but it's not okay for you to demand others to believe the same way.

Your children can turn away from you, their upbringing, from the church, but they can never run from your prayers.

You cannot become what you need to be by remaining what you are.

This day will never come again. Be a blessing. Be a friend. Encourage someone.

No relationship is all sunshine, but two people can share one umbrella and survive the storm together.

Will you look back on life and say, "I wish I had," or "I'm glad I did?"

When obstacles arrives, you change your direction to reach your goal, you do not change your decision to get there.

REMEMBERING

Did you ever forget an important anniversary or birthday? Do you ever feel forgotten, even by those closest to you? God always remembers you. You need only to believe in His plan and have faith in your Creator. He tells us in Jeremiah 29:11... "For I know the plans I have for you...to give you a future and a hope." Remember God this week at your house of worship; He knows every thing about you and will never forget you.

Judgment on the Rebellion

Numbers 16:23-35

Korah's rebellion ended with the deaths of Korah and all who supported his efforts to replace Moses (God's chosen leader) and Aaron (God's chosen high priest).

In the text before us, we see the deaths of Korah, Dathan, Abiram and their families, and the deaths of the two hundred and fifty men of renown who offered up incense to the Lord. The manner of their deaths cannot be classified as common.

In verses 29 and 30, the Lord made it known through the words of Moses that Korah, Dathan and Abiram and all that pertained to them would be swallowed up by the earth. Immediately following their deaths, a fire from the Lord consumed the two hundred and fifty men who offered incense to the Lord (v. 35).

Moses told the people that Korah, Dathan and Abiram would be swallowed up by the earth because "these men" had provoked the Lord. The Lord was also provoked by the two hundred and fifty who offered incense before Him.

New Testament believers know why the Lord was provoked. New Testament believers know the reason that Korah, Dathan and Abiram and the two hundred and fifty gathered themselves against Moses was because they did not believe the words that Moses spoke to be of God. Evidence of their unbelief is found in their words and actions.

Note first the deaths of Dathan, Abiram, and all who appertain to Korah. In verse 26, Moses went to Dathan and Abiram and declared that those who stood with them would be consumed. On the previous day, Moses had sent word to Dathan and Abiram to come to the tabernacle of the Lord. They refused to come. They did not believe that the Lord had raised up Moses to lead the children of Israel and they did not obey. Upon hearing Moses say that the Lord would cause the earth to open up and swallow them, they stood their ground. They believed not and were swallowed up.

The unbelief of the two hundred and fifty is also evident in their actions. Korah and the two hundred and fifty were chosen by the Lord to serve in the tabernacle and to minister to all who came there to worship (see v. 9). Korah and the Levites who followed him did not believe the word of the Lord which Moses had delivered to them and to all the people. They did not believe that priestly service to the Lord was for reserved for Aaron and his sons alone. Their unbelief, however, was different from that of Dathan and Abiram.

On the previous day, Moses told Korah and the two hundred and fifty to come to the tabernacle of the Lord and to place fire upon their censers and burn incense before the Lord. They did as Moses had said to do. Unlike Dathan and Abiram, they obeyed the command of the Lord. They obeyed but, nonetheless, died an uncommon death. Why?

Why were Dathan and Abiram swallowed up by the earth while the two hundred and fifty consumed by fire? The difference in the manner of their deaths reveals a difference in the Lord's judgment.

The two hundred and fifty placed fire upon their censers and burned incense to the Lord believing that they possessed a righteousness which they did not possess. On the previous day Moses had stated that the Lord would show them the man of His choosing and the man who shall be holy (v. 7). They heard Moses say, "ye take too much upon you, ye sons of Levi" but they believed not.

The two hundred and fifty offered up their incense (their sweet smelling righteousness) believing that their righteousness qualified them to stand before God. The Lord did as Moses said. The Lord revealed that every man among the two hundred and fifty assumed a righteousness which they did not possess. All were consumed by fire.

The word of God declares: "There is none righteous, no, not one" (Rom. 3:10). The righteousness of the two hundred and fifty was revealed by fire. All were consumed. The two hundred and fifty all believed in themselves. They did not know that their righteousness was as filthy rags.

New Testament believers, like the two hundred and fifty Levites, shall stand before our Lord and Savior. At that time, "Every man's work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is" (I Cor. 3:13). All that is not built upon the foundation of Jesus Christ shall be burned. Let no man be wise in this world because it is foolishness with God (I Cor. 3:19).

Let us declare the name of Him who is of the Father, the name of Him who is holy.

Poca Soccer — More Than Noteworthy

Brock Jarrett-Poca High Boys Soccer Coach wanted to share an incredible statistic with the community regarding a couple of Poca's Soccer players.

Jacob Farley finished 1st in the state in scoring and 22nd nationally. In high school girls' soccer, Katie Farley also finished first in the state and 8th nationally.

To put this in perspective, there are 850,000 kids that play high school soccer. An amazing accomplishment for not only soccer but Poca High in general.

Congratulations to Jacob and Katie!
