The Southern Stompers clogging group from Lincoln County also performed at the festival, entertaining the audience with their lively dancing.

This is the first time that there has ever been a bluegrass concert at Valley Park. "We wanted to bring something to the park," said Justin Williams, park director. "Hopefully it takes off and we can do this year after year."

Putnam County 'Senior Games' Are Back

By Ron Allen

The Putnam Aging Program introduced the Senior Games to Putnam County in 2017. Covid concerns caused "The Games" to be placed on hold in 2020 and 2021.

On Thursday, July 21, seniors from Putnam's three Senior Centers gathered at Hurricane City Park to compete in football throw accuracy, washer toss, corn hole, disc golf, archery, baseball throw, softball throw, ladder ball, 20-yard dash, and lawn dart. In addition to these physical competitions, the seniors went head-to-head in spelling bee and bingo competition.

The games were arranged such that participants competed on behalf of the Buffalo, Hometown and Hurricane Senior Centers. Participants scored points which were tallied to win both individual awards and awards for their center. Following lunch provided by Putnam Aging, there was an awards ceremony at which the high point total competitor of each Center received an MVP Award. The award earns the winners a place at the 2023 West Virginia

Senior Olympics as guests of Putnam Aging.

The City of Hurricane provided the use of the park and assisted in setting up the event. Misting fans and water were supplied for all.

The Games are a condensed version of the Mountain State Senior Olympics which originated at Potomac State College in the Eastern Panhandle in 2002.

The sounds of banjos and guitars could be heard at Valley Park during the Pickin' in the Park bluegrass festival held on Saturday, July 23. This week's selection is the 4th history from The Centennial History of Hurricane WV Continued — 1994.

William A. Burdette was born June 19, 1838, in Monroe County WV, one of twelve children of Alexander and Mary Hill Burdette. He was the grandson of William and Sarah Cornwall Burdette who had arrived in Monroe County about 1800. Burdette is still a familiar name in Monroe County.

In February 1855, William A. came, with his family, to a farm a few miles south of Hurricane. The family engaged in farming, Continued to Page 7

The Way We Were, The Way We Are

By Brenda Burke

The Class of '65 turns 75... who would have thought?

Yes, the graduating class of Hurricane High School 1965 turns 75 this year... imagine that... those little seniors walking across that stage in caps and gowns... ages 17 to about 18 or 19... turning the big 75 this year... those were the days, my friends... None of us would have believed how quickly the years have gone by... none of us... it has been a roller coaster ride...

Barbara B. was May... Pat R. was March (I think)... Linda, June... Becky T., August... yours truly and June Lee, September... Becky F., November... Barbara C., December... Kay S., January... Sandy B., January or February... my memory... seems like John C. was born before us in February... and Vess after us in February... I used to know these dates... Lorraine S. March... Remember, I am almost 75...

The Class of '65... wonder where they all are now... I can speak for myself... I have had twists and turns on this roller coaster called life... for someone who loves Hurricane more than any other place, I have moved 31 times in my lifetime... and every day I miss that town... those people...

After marrying Mike, we lived in two places in Huntington, West Virginia... he was transferred to Summersville where we lived three places. I liked visiting the mountains; I never liked living so far from everything... just too isolated for me... however, it worked... by the time the four of us moved to Circleville, Ohio, I was ready for the city... we lived in two homes there... helped start and build a church... our kids received the best education to begin their school years... lasting friends... lovely homes... just ten of the best years ever, ever...

Back to Summersville... I won't even say what I thought about that... owning Burke's Hallmark... kids off to college... both graduated Valedictorians one year apart... they are Burkes after all... I went to Glenville for my degrees... before heading south to teach five years at the at-risk schools and in a prison... South Carolina... good years... back to West Virginia... teaching there... my best times... grandchildren... friends... my children... family... another degree...

To Indianapolis... three good years... a huge modern church with great friends... then Florida last year... son bought this condo... my family is enough for me... love it... I have come full circle... from a poor little girl on Virginia Avenue to a senior on a fixed income... none of the "things" are around... just the people... none of those "things" mattered... houses gone... cars long gone... collectibles... you name it... I have gotten rid of just about everything I ever owned... and I have become a minimalist with just family counting... and friends... long lasting friends...

The Class of '65... some have traveled from our little hamlet of a town... never to return to live... some not even visiting... others have never left their roots... staying and growing families where we grew up... wouldn't it be great if the high school had been kept? We could have had a museum there... nice to walk those halls again... remembering... memories... those were the days, my friends...

The Class of '65... friendships that have lasted forever... some not so much... friends who have left us... and we miss them so, so much... Dorothy... Pat... Vess... John... just to name a few... my friends... I cherish my friends... from then and those I have made through the years...

75... an awesome huge number... 75 years of living... of a journey of making memories... experiences... my youngest granddaughter always says, "Nana, we don't need things; we want experiences." Oh so right... I have had so many... in this journey called LIFE... I have lived longer than those in my family... I have learned much; I have forgotten more; I have treasured many... I have loved and lost... I have had the best of times and the not best of times to paraphrase... this life journey has been more than I ever expected... this little girl, born to a teenage mother, who grew up on a little street in a little town in a little state... who never expected to go anywhere or to do much... the greatest achievement... not the degrees... not the careers... the two children who are the best this world has to author... I am thankful for my miracles... because the way we were is the way we are... hopeful that they continue to make a difference in this world of ours... caring adults... respectful... prayers to my readers... some of you know Covid has played havoc with my family despite all of us following the "rules"... of course, we know there are those who don't and for that we are despaired... prayers...

Real Customer Service

By Velma Kitchens of Culloden

I stopped by a place of business several months ago to look at a desk someone told me about. This desk was not at a furniture store, so I thought I would stop and look at it. I found the desk and it was just what I was looking for and it was marked down. I moved the box to see how heavy it was, and, yes, it was heavy, and, no, I could not lift it.

I walked around the store and saw two young girls who worked there and asked if there was anyone who could help me with the box. One of the girls said she could help me. Well, I thought that was nice but I hoped she could lift it. She was not a skinny girl but stout. I have not had to lift heavy objects as all the menfolk in my lift have always done it, but I was by myself and myself could not do it. I showed the desk to the girl, and, lo and behold, she hefted that thing in my cart like it was a box of baby diapers. She was strong. I felt like a wimp compared to her—not really, as the only things I have lifted that were heavy were my kids when they were younger. I am not 25 anymore, but this young girl probably was 25. My mom always said the older you get, the less physical strength we have, and Mom was right. I find myself struggling with my manual can opener.

The girl even walked me to my car and put the desk in my car for me. That, my friends, is customer service. We don't always have folks who help us even in a place of business but I am thankful for that girl who helped me. I did have someone put it together with the hundred bolts, nuts, and screws. We see women doing all sorts of jobs out there in the workforce and I am thankful for all of them. I do feel for the ones who work on the roads in the hot sun and cold of winter.

My great uncle Charlie, who I have written about before, would not let a woman carry a bag of groceries even if it had only a loaf of bread. He was raised to respect the women and do for them. I am glad when a gentleman holds a door for me because it shows respect for us ladies. We need more gentlemen and we need more ladies.

Remember our strength is in the Lord and He will never leave us nor forsake us. It is a different time but God never changes.

Chicken with Creamy Sun-Dried Tomato Sauce

Recipe courtesy of Marcia Stanley, MS, RDN, Culinary Dietitian, on behalf of Milk Means More

Total time: 20 minutes

Servings: 4

- 3/4 cup half-and-half
- 1/2 teaspoon all-purpose flour
- 1 1/4 pounds boneless, skinless chicken breast cutlets (about 3/4 inch thick)
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon oil from sun-dried tomato jar
- 1/2 cup oil-packed, slivered sun-dried tomatoes, drained
- 1/3 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/3 cup reduced-sodium chicken broth
- 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan-Reggiano cheese

In bowl, whisk half-and-half and flour. Set aside.

Pat chicken pieces dry with paper towels. If necessary, cut into four serving-size pieces. Sprinkle both sides of chicken with salt and pepper.

In large nonstick skillet over medium heat, heat sun-dried tomato oil. Cook chicken pieces 3-4 minutes, or until browned. Turn chicken. Cook 3-4 minutes, or until thermometer inserted in thickest portion of chicken reads 165 F. Transfer to serving platter. Loosely cover with foil to keep warm.

Add sun-dried tomatoes and onions to drippings in skillet. Cook 1-2 minutes, or until onion is tender. Stir in broth. Cook, stirring constantly, until most liquid evaporates. Stir in cream mixture and any accumulated juices from cooked chicken. Cook and stir until simmering and slightly thickened. Remove from heat. Stir in Parmesan-Reggiano cheese.

To serve, spoon sauce over chicken.

MOMENTS TO TREASURE

Are there simple things that we take for granted in our lives? Do we overlook the fact that the ordinary activities throughout our day can delight and mean the most to us? Consider Psalm 118:24, "This is the day the Lord has made; let us rejoice and be glad in it." Watch for the moments to treasure; give thanks for the simple things. Rejoice with God at your house of worship this week!

Jesus Heals a Centurion's Servant

Luke 7:1-10

The text before us focuses upon a Roman soldier, a centurion, and his request that Jesus heal his servant who appeared to be about to die. There is much to be gleaned from the centurion's attitude and actions.

Centurions were officers who headed guard units of close to one hundred men. Roman soldiers and their officers came with a reputation. They were extremely well disciplined and were feared for their brute force. They were not regarded as nice people. This particular centurion, however, had established a different reputation. He was highly thought of by the Jews of Capernaum. The elders of the Jews held this centurion to be a very noble person because he was very respectful of Judaism and he had used his personal resources to construct a synagogue.

Upon reading this account, believers tend to look beyond the printed word and assume the centurion to have been a proselyte or to have been considering becoming one. Such assumptions may or may not be justified. We must withhold assigning motives to the centurion's actions until we look upon the facts if we are to receive the understandings which the Holy Spirit would have us receive.

The Facts: (1) The centurion's servant was dear to him and was sick and was about to die. (2) The centurion heard of Jesus and sent elders of the Jews to Jesus requesting that He heal his servant. (3) The Jews thought the centurion to be a worthy man. (4) Jesus went with the elders to the centurion's home. (5) The centurion stated that he was not worthy to have Jesus enter into his home and that he did not consider himself worthy to have directly approached Jesus with the request to heal his servant. (6) The centurion, addressing Jesus, stated: "but say in a word, and my servant shall be healed." (7) The centurion stated that he also was a man set under authority and that those under his authority did as he commanded. (8) Jesus stated to His followers that the centurion possessed faith which the people of Israel lacked. (9) The elders went into the centurion's home and found his servant to have been restored to health.

While we know that the centurion had heard of Jesus, we do not know the details of what he had heard. It is fair to assume that he had knowledge of miracles of healing which Jesus had done. This was the cause for which he sought Jesus. From verse 7, it is apparent that he thought himself to be unworthy to approach Jesus with a request to heal his servant. It is also apparent that the centurion felt that the elders of the Jews were worthy to approach Jesus on his behalf.

While considering himself to be less worthy than the elders of the Jews to approach Jesus, the centurion accepted his authoritative role as an officer (v. 8). He had soldiers to whom he issued orders which orders were obeyed. The centurion described himself as "a man set under authority." He viewed himself to have been given authority by a higher authority. He could issue orders with confidence because any soldier who disobeyed his orders must answer to that higher authority.

From verse 8, it is apparent that he also considered Jesus to be a man set under authority by higher authority as he (the centurion) had been. We know that the centurion had been given his authority by order of higher ranking officers whose authority could ultimately be traced to the Roman emperor. One can reasonably conclude that the centurion believed that the authority by which Jesus performed miracles was God. It is highly unlikely that one who was known to love "our nation" and "built us a synagogue" (see v. 5) did not have a knowledge of God. The centurion's perceived unworthiness of his standing with Jesus is linked to his understanding of God. The centurion believed that Jesus could, by the power of God, heal his servant without entering into his home.

In verse 9, Jesus stated that He had not found so great a faith in Israel. The centurion's faith that Jesus could heal his servant while not being in the servant's presence was founded in God the Father who gave Jesus the authority to work miracles. Jesus' followers believed that His miracles were of God but they lacked the centurion's understanding of authority.

God wants His people to have the confidence of the centurion. The centurion believed in a God who possessed power over all things. The centurion believed that God fully backed Jesus to whom He (God) gave authority. New Testament believers know Jesus as God the Son and Savior but fail to call upon Him believing that He shall honor our petitions. We fail to call believing upon Him who has all authority.

The centurion saw himself as unworthy to approach the Lord. The elders thought the centurion to be a deserving person. Worthiness was not and is not an issue with Jesus. God looks upon the faith of men and counts it for righteousness.

These things are written such that God may find righteousness in us.

AG Morrisey Wins Injunction in Federal Horseracing Suit

West Virginia Attorney General Patrick Morrisey announced Tuesday that a federal judge has granted a preliminary injunction against enforcement of a federal agency's rules in West Virginia and Louisiana.

The order by the federal court will prevent certain of the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act (HISA) Authority's rules from being implemented in those two states until a lawsuit challenging HISA's constitutionality is decided in the future. In particular, the injunction covers the authority's Racetrack Safety Rules, Enforcement Rules, and Assessment Methodology Rules.

"We are glad the judge realized the potential for harm to the horseracing industry in West Virginia was so serious that the injunction was warranted," Attorney General Morrisey said. "We feel confident that our challenge to the legality of HISA will likewise have a favorable result."

The Act, signed into law on Dec. 27, 2020, was intended to address problems threatening the horse industry under the pre-existing state-by-state regulations. Under the Act, a "private, independent, self-regulatory, non-profit corporation," HISA, was created. Its purpose was to develop and implement cattle and timbering. A few short years later, when the Civil War began, William enlisted in Capt. Albert J. Beckett's company of Cavalry, one of the first units mustered in the Confederate Army. These men, as were most Confederate soldiers, simply were fighting to protect their homes rather than uphold slavery or other political reasons. In July 1861, William was present at the Battle of Scary, one of the first battles of the Civil War. In early 1862, he transferred to the 10th Regiment, VA Cavalry. Three years later, this unit was positioned near Appomatox Courthouse when Lee surrendered to Grant. After fighting so hard for so long, surrender was a bitter pill for Confederate soldiers to swallow, and it was an experience he never forgot.

He returned home in April 1865. A year later

"a horseracing anti-doping and medication control program and a racetrack safety program for covered" horses, persons and horseraces. In two related suits, West Virginia and other states argue that the Act unconstitutionally delegates power to a private entity, commandeers traditional state authority and led to implementing regulations that do not comply with other federal laws.

HISA is funded by the states and racing industry, not by Congress.

he went to a farm on Kanawha River near Scary and lived there until 1873. He then returned to the family farm which he and his brother Lee purchased. Later, he purchased his brother's interest, and still later added other tracts, making it one of the larger farms on Trace Fork.

On February 12, 1868 William married Virginia Chittum and they were the parents of:

Olia C., b. March 26, 1869, d. December 26, 1899

John S. "Buster", b. Jan. 3, 1872, m. Mary Harbour, (see volume I).

Virginia L. b. Dec. 30, 1873

Mary Belle, b. Mar. 25, 1876 d. June 2, 1946

Ella R., b. c1878, d. Mar. 26, 1896

Lillie R. "Lula", b. sept. 12, 1880

Wilburn W., b. Dec. 20, 1883

Willie A., b. Dec. 20, 1883 (twins)

Herbert E., b. Apr. 24, 1885, d. Dec. 26, 1979.

Among these children were bankers, business leaders, dentist, farmers, tobacconists, etc. William continued living on the family farm until his death March 28, 1907. The large number who gathered for his funeral attested to his popularity in the community. Most of his pallbearers were Confederate veterans. His final resting place was in Mt. Moriah Cemetery.

A host of descendants still live in the Hurricane area.

Putnam County Fair Produces 110 Open Class Blue Ribbon Winners

West Virginia University's Putnam County Extension Office accepted exhibits for the 2022 Putnam County Fair Open Class from 53 Exhibitors, an encouraging post-pandemic increase in exhibitors as compared to 2021, with a total of 36.

The exhibits included various fresh produce items, canned goods, flowers, fodder, arts and crafts, photographs, paintings, afghans, quilts and, new this year, tanned furs. Final award tallies came in at 110 Blue Ribbons; 31 Red Ribbons; 3 White Ribbons; and 11 Best of Fair.

The 2022 award amounts for fresh produce, canning, and fodder exhibits were distributed at an increased rate many thanks to a very generous donation made by the West Virginia Conservation Agency's Western Conservation District.

The Putnam County Extension Office will be revising the Open Class Rules for 2023, by simply giving them a user-friendly facelift for both the exhibitors and the judges. The revised Rules will be available in the Extension office after the first of the year, and a copy will also be included in the 2023 Extension Garden Calendar.

The Rustic Mechanicals Presents Love's Labour's Lost

Join The Rustic Mechanicals, West Virginia's only professional Shakespeare troupe, at Valley Park in Hurricane for a performance of William Shakespeare's LOVE'S LABOUR'S LOST.

This FREE performance begins at 7 p.m. on Saturday, July 30. Audience members must bring their own chairs.

When the King of Navarre and his three courtiers forswear all pleasure - particularly of the female variety - in favour of a life of study, the arrival of the Princess of France and her ladies plays havoc with their intentions. Using every kind of verbal gymnastics to poke fun, Love's Labour's Lost proves to be Shakespeare's most intellectual comedy. The Rustic Mechanicals production is filled with music, romance, charm, and a healthy dose of laugh-out-loud hilarity.

Directed by Jim Warren, alongside Intimacy Director Jessica Morgan with Technical Direction by David Byard, Costume Design by Jason A Young, Hair & Make-Up Design by Samantha Huffman, Production Management by Haley Wilson, and Dramaturgy by John Shirley; the Mechanicals featured in this production include newcomers Erica Cottrill, M. Eric Jett, Jackson Johnson, Jordan Kennedy Rea, Ben Long, Kyra McKillip, Kyia McGill, Tim Walker and troupe veterans Derek Hess, Samantha Huffman, Jason A Young, and Sarah Young.
