Putnam Reaps $7,100 in REAP Grants

By Ron Allen

The Town of Bancroft and the Putnam County Solid Waste Authority were the recipients of grants of $2,100 and $5,000 from the West Virginia Department of Environmental Protection's (WVDEP) Rehabilitation Environmental Action Plan (REAP) program.

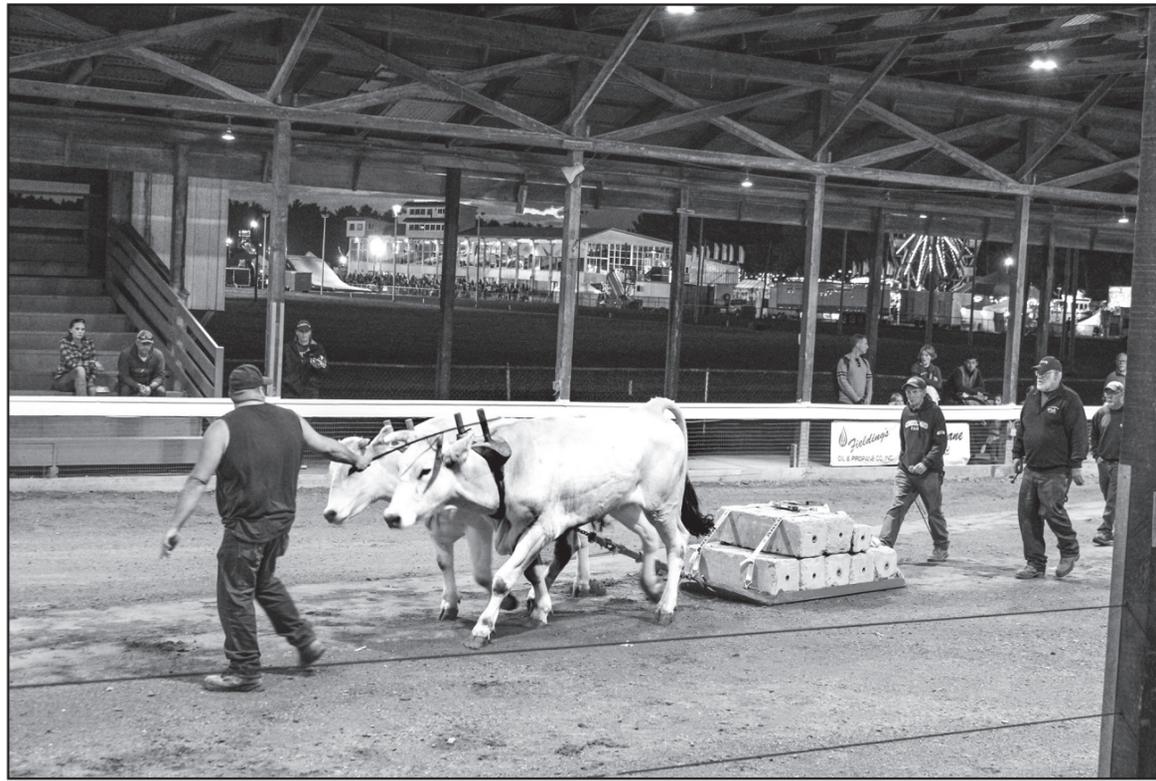

REAP announced the awards on Thursday, September 22nd. Bancroft will use the grant to assist with disposal fees for a town cleanup event. The PCSWA will utilize its award to assist with wages for the County's litter control officer.

REAP awarded $98,000 in Litter Control grants statewide to county solid waste authorities, county commissions, and municipalities. A total of 25 grants were approved.

Funding for the litter control program is generated from 50% of civil penalties imposed upon persons convicted of unlawful disposal of litter and state agency facility recycling revenue pursuant to West Virginia Code 22-15A-4 and 22-15A-5.

Vacation Update from the State of Maine

By Ron Allen

I am sharing this photo of an ox pull with Breeze readers because Betsy and I produced this issue of the Breeze while on vacation in Maine.

In addition to the Cumberland County Fair, the two of us visited L.L. Bean in Freeport, the Freeport Town Landing, Reid State Park and Popham Beach State Park. Our return plan calls for a fall foliage tour of the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

Caterpillar Appearance Heralds Autumn's Arrival

By Betsy Allen

This hairy cucumber is an Imperial Moth caterpillar which was spotted at the Breeze Ranch on Sunday, September 18. The adult moth varies from 3 1/8 to 6 7/8 inches, and is greenish yellow in color with purplish brown camouflage-type markings on the body and wings. Caterpillars vary in appearance according to their growth cycles, but they tend to be large in size, growing up to 4 inches long. This particular caterpillar was olive green in color with white spots along its side and long white hairs along the body.

Various subspecies of Imperial Moths can be found from Argentina to Canada and from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic Coast. Unfortunately, the moth has been on the decline for many years, especially in the New England states. The larvae prefer pine, maple, oak, box elder, and sassafras. If you see an Imperial Moth caterpillar, do not handle it, because its long hairs can cause skin irritation and rashes.

Local Artist Barbara Wilson Parts with Treasured Works

By Betsy Allen

Well-known Hurricane artist Barbara Wilson hosted an art show and sale at her home on September 17 and 18. Dreama Davis, the Real Estate Lady, helped organize the show and assist Wilson in downsizing the massive body of work she had completed over the course of her career.

Wilson was an art instructor for many years, teaching all over the country at the elementary, middle school, high school, and college levels. She helped found Main Street Studio in 1996, an artist co-op which operated for twenty-one years in Hurricane. She was also a featured artist at the Art Store in Charleston, which would become the primary location that her works were sold.

Most of Wilson's paintings are monoprints - a painting done on a plexiglass or zinc plate and then run through a printing press to create a single print. Her works are very bright and colorful, with impressionistic and abstract details. Since she is an animal lover, her paintings often feature animals, with many having stories behind them. She also incorporates wood cuts into her paintings, which is another reason why her work is so unique.

In 2015, one of Wilson's paintings was featured in the "Best of West Virginia" exhibit at Tamarak. The piece, a monoprint entitled "Don't Like Chickens," was inspired by a dog that she had worked with while volunteering at the Putnam County Animal Shelter. The dog

By Betsy Allen

I do not download many apps for my phone, for I prefer to keep as much memory available as possible for photos and videos. However, I wanted to get an app which would allow me to identify wildflowers and other plants. After searching the Apple App Store for such a program, I found one called PictureThis - Plant Identifier. While the company that produced the app wants you to pay a $29.99 yearly fee, you can still use PictureThis for free, although some of the app's resources will not be available.

PictureThis uses your smartphone's camera feature to take photos of plants, which it then scans and shows a result in a matter of seconds. An internet connection is required to use the instant scan feature, but users can also take photos of plants and then ask the app to scan them in areas where there is limited or no connection.

Most of the results I have gotten from PictureThis seem to be spot on. Most entries feature a list of names for that species, although not every regional name will be listed. The

West Virginia Archives Library To Host Civil War Symposium

West Virginia Archives and History is pleased to present "West Virginia and the Civil War" in the Archives and History Library at the Culture Center, State Capitol Complex, in Charleston on Saturday, Oct. 8, 2022. The symposium will begin at 10 a.m. and is free and open to the public. No registration is required.

"West Virginia and the Civil War" will feature four dynamic Civil War historians and speakers: Christy Perry Tuohey, Dr. Billy Joe Peyton, Steve Cunningham and Dr. Phil Hatfield. During an hour-long break between the morning and afternoon sessions, attendees will have an opportunity to inspect Civil War artifacts from the personal collections of presenters and the Archives and History holdings. Cunningham will have a table with books from his publishing company, 35th Star Publishing.

Schedule of Events

10 - 11 a.m. - Christy Perry Tuohey presents: "A Place of Rest for Our Gallant Boys: The U.S. Army Hospital at Gallipolis, Ohio, 1861-1865"

Situated along the Ohio River at the mouth of the Great Kanawha River, Gallipolis, Ohio, was an ideal location for a U.S. Army hospital in the early moments of the Civil War. This is the account of both Civil War horrors and hope, of Army surgeons and civilians who risked their own lives while working tirelessly in the wards of the Gallipolis U.S. Army Hospital to heal sick and wounded soldiers from both sides of the conflict. The people who cared for the warriors came from all quarters: an Ohio school teacher, a New England surgeon, and a hospital steward who nursed his regimental comrade back from the brink of death. Native West Virginian and Marshall graduate Perry Tuohey, a veteran of newsrooms and classrooms, is an author and freelance writer. She worked as a TV news reporter and anchor in Charleston/Huntington; Charlotte, N.C.; and Columbus and Cleveland, Ohio. Her writing has been published in multiple print and online newspapers and magazines. A Place of Rest for Our Gallant Boys: The U.S. Army Hospital at Gallipolis, Ohio, 1861-1865 is her third book.

11 a.m. - noon - Dr. Billy Joe Peyton presents: "Soldiers, Statesmen, Politicians: Commanders and Officers of the 23rd Ohio Volunteer Infantry Regiment"

The Union army is considered "one of the most remarkable military assemblages in history." President Lincoln believed there was scarcely one regiment from which could not be selected "a president, a cabinet, a congress, and perhaps a court." This prophetic statement was affirmed in the 23rd Ohio Volunteer Infantry case, as former officers included two presidents, three members of Congress, a Supreme Court justice, an ambassador, and several lawyers. Peyton, a public historian and retired Professor of History at West Virginia State University, earned his BA, MA, and Ph.D. from WVU. His 40-year public history career included work with public and private organizations. Peyton is the author of two books on Charleston history, chair of the Charleston Historic Landmarks Commission, and sits on the board of the WV Humanities Council.

Noon - 1 p.m. - Break

1 - 2 p.m. - Steve Cunningham presents: "Bringing Order Out of Confusion: The Colonels of the 7th West Virginia Cavalry"

Cunningham will present never-before-published information from his many years of research on the 7th West Virginia Cavalry regiment that was raised in the Kanawha Valley, concentrating on the colonels who commanded the unit, John Hunt Oley and Lucien Loeser. Cunningham has been conducting research on West Virginia and the Civil War for many years. The focus of his research has been on the 7th West Virginia Cavalry, a Union regiment raised in the Kanawha Valley. He is the president and owner of 35th Star Publishing and a descendant of four privates of the 7th WV Cavalry. A graduate of Virginia Tech and Marshall, he has authored or co-authored many articles about the Civil War and contributed research to many other authors' books on the subject. Steve will publish his upcoming history of the regiment tentatively titled, Loyalty They Always Had: The 7th West Virginia Cavalry in the U.S. Civil War.

2 - 3 p.m. - Dr. Phil Hatfield presents: "The Battle of Hurricane Bridge"

The Battle at Hurricane Bridge is an often-overlooked Civil War action occurring at the small and otherwise quiet western Virginia village. For five hours the green Union troops of the 13th West Virginia Volunteer Infantry under the command of Capt. James Johnson fought to hold off the hardened Confederate veterans of the 8th and 16th Virginia Cavalry commanded by Brigadier General Albert Gallatin Jenkins. The victory at Hurricane Bridge directly contributed to the Union army maintaining control of the James River and Kanawha Turnpike, a key supply line, and enabled federal control of the Kanawha Valley for the remainder of the war. Hatfield, Ph.D., a member of the Company of Military Historians, earned a Ph.D. in psychology from Fielding University, a master's degree in psychology from Marshall, and a bachelor's degree in psychology and history from the University of Charleston. He is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force, served in Operation Iraqi Freedom, and author of five books and numerous scholarly articles related to the Civil War.

The Way We Were, The Way We Are

By Brenda Burke

"Take me home Country Roads..."

— John Denver

I love this song. I play it often on YouTube. The other day, I asked one of the boys to play it for me... they have electric guitars, amps, and a full set of drums, along with a pool table, ping pong, foosball, basketball, etc., in their home... the in-law suite is becoming full. Anyway, he told me, "Nana, we don't have an acoustic guitar for that..." I said "Don't tell your dad. He will be on Craig's List again..." AHA...such a sweet family.

I told my grandson why I love the song so much...we discussed WV, where the family spent three weeks this summer camping and in lodges, white water rafting, etc. They love WV also... they see their Grandpa Burke when they go. He understood why I have such good memories...

WV Strong...I tell my WV friends that we are WV Strong. I told the doctor that the other day when she was explaining that she had seen some of my previous tests from WV.... my bone diseases, etc... I am WV strong... my friends are too... something about WV...

Friends... I miss my friends in WV... when that dreadful Covid is better and better, I am flying up to WV... I moved away after Thanksgiving, 2017. After stay several weeks in my Nana's suite at the family here, I told them I really wanted to live in Indiana to be near the girls for awhile... to be near my doctors in WV... and my friends. Even though they wanted me here, they let me have my way.

In 2018, I was in WV several times on business, doctors, and friends...I flew to Florida four times that year...happy happy. In 2019, WV saw this WV Strong woman two times...and Florida three... that was the last time I saw Linda, Phyllis, Flora Lee... because you know what appeared in 2020... I miss my friends... all of them in WV... I miss my stores... my places to grab a quick bite...Hurricane, WV, is so much in my heart...

2020, 2021, and 2022 probably won't have WV trip... but 2023... I will mask... risk the plane... risk going home... seeing those good good friends... walking the streets of Hurricane... not sure when... maybe a trip to the mountains... if my daughter can go at the same time... if not... I am going home for a visit...

Country Roads... I admit I did not like living in Summersville... too far from everything. Burke's Hallmark took up our lives... we lived there from '71-74, and when we left to move to Ohio, I was a happy little camper. (I loved living in Huntington from 1968-1971) When we returned to Summersville in 1984, I was a sad little camper. Just saying that I did not like being so far into the mountains... It was a 90 mile trip to the mall in Charleston to shop... Beckley had a few places but not much...

At my age now, I would like a little place in the mountains to "visit" not live there... in the Autumn of the year... when the leaves are in their glory... gifts from God indeed... not sure if I will be going there or not... I don't usually like to travel any more...but Indy, WV, and NYC are on my list of musts... NYC is my favorite city, and now I have a grandgirl working there... her dream...

Country Roads...those are not just the roads in the mountains... they are the roads I enjoy around Hurricane... Rt. 34, Clymer's Creek, Turkey Creek... give me a little house out one of those roads... I will live my days in a rocking chair on the porch, waiting for friends and family to visit.

In the meantime, my friends and I text, send snail mail, and call... we will be patient and know that even though we have never been apart this long... four years, in the course of our lives during Covid, really isn't that long. If I don't get to WV this fall, I will book a flight in the spring and see Country Roads... I love WV... I love Hurricane, WV... because the way we were is the way we are... always WV Strong... be sure to mask, isolate when possible, and please vaccinate... if not for you, for those of us who are elderly.

Fun Identifying Trees and Flowers

program will even tell you if the plant is sickly – although this feature can also be triggered if you are attempting to identify a plant in low light conditions. While the app can identify the species of a plant, it cannot tell you the specific variety. For instance, you could use PictureThis to scan a zinnia, and it would correctly identify the flower, but it wouldn't be able to tell you the name of that particular variety.

I have gotten some incorrect results while scanning tree bark patterns – the program confused a pine tree for a maple. The app also had an extremely difficult time correctly identifying a Japanese Lantern plant. The fruits of this particular plant have a bright orange husk which resemble paper lanterns. Some of the possibilities were Coral Lily (the app confused the husk for a flower), Virginia Groundcherry, and a Carolina Horsenettle (scan was of leaves alone). A search for Japanese Lantern on Wikipedia suggests that the plant might be Alkekengi Officinarum, which is also known as Chinese Lantern, Japanese Lantern, Bladder Cherry, Strawberry Groundcherry, or Winter Cherry. Japanese Lanterns are in the Solanaceae (Nightshade)

Elizabeth died about 1830 in Cabell County. Elizabeth's daughter, Mary Bell, came with the Harbours to Virginia. She married John Smallridge on the 25th of January, 1820, in Cabell County. They raised a large family in the Teays Valley area. David Sr. and Elizabeth had three children.

1. Jess Harbour was born 1804 in Kentucky. He died after 1880. On the 10th of January, 1828, he married Jane Newman, the daughter of Leroy and Sally Jordan Newman. Jane died in 1836. Their

(All of the just mentioned are buried and have monuments at the McCallister cemetery on Route 60, Putnam County (very near the Cabell County line). David Jr. and Elizabeth had seven children:

John T. Harbour, 1831-1881, married Adaliza Roberts, 1833-1903.

family, and several of the possible matches were also in this family, so possibly this is where the confusion lies. So far, this plant continues to mystify PictureThis.

Out of morbid curiosity, I have used the app to scan photos in which no plants were present, just to see what it would say. The program's AI will usually tell you that it could find no identifiable plants, but a scan of a cat's white paws did suggest that the image in the photo might be a white fungus that grows in forests. I will admit that this particular fungus does resemble the shape of a cat's paw, so I can understand how the AI misunderstood the image.

Speaking of fungus, PictureThis does warn the user whenever it is used to identify mushrooms or fungi. It is not safe to use this app to identify edible species, and PictureThis advises users not to touch or eat any mushroom. Foraging for mushrooms and fungi can be very dangerous, as many species have a similar appearance, and it is easy for an amateur to confuse a poisonous mushroom for an edible one. This is a case when it is best to have an expert's advice. PictureThis also warns users not to eat wild berries unless it can be confirmed without a doubt that the plant or bush in question is non-toxic.

I have used PictureThis had been adopted by a family who lived on a farm, but when the dog killed one of the family's chickens, they returned him to the shelter. A sign saying "Don't Like Chickens" was attached to his cage as a warning to prospective adoptees.

Many people came out to view Wilson's work, including an art instructor from Hurricane High School, who purchased several of her paintings to use as teaching aids for his students. Wishing to share her love of art with young students, Wilson plans to donate two paintings to the art departments at Hurricane High School, Winfield High School, and St. Albans High School.

to identify many of the wildflowers which grow in fields and along roadsides in late summer and early autumn. Right now, there is still a lot of Giant Ironweed, Yellow Ironweed, Late Boneset, Bearded Beggarticks, Goldenrod, and Orange Jewelweed growing, although these plants are starting to die back for the season. I have also discovered a lot of vary fragrant wildflowers, such as Bearded Beggarticks. These strangely named plants look like Yellow Ironweed from a distance and yellow Cosmos close up, and have a beautiful scent that smells just like honey. A friend of mine who has anosmia (loss of smell) claimed that he thought they smelled like graham crackers.

PictureThis also keeps a record of all of the plants that you have identified. This feature can be found under the Snap History section of the app. I do not know if this list will continue to grow as pictures are taken, or if the older photos will eventually be deleted to make room for new ones.

This app is a great one to have for identifying interesting looking plants and flowers that you might encounter on your travels. Just keep in mind that the program has its limitations, although for the most part it seems to be fairly accurate.

Warm Up Fall with Filling Family Meals

(Family Features) Cooler fall months call for comforting, hearty meals that taste just as delicious as they look. Filling recipes like chili and pasta make the season a special time for spending quality moments with those you love.

This fall, turn to a time-saving ingredient like Newman's Own Sockarooni Pasta Sauce with its blend of tomatoes, mushrooms and bell peppers plus a few signature spices. This versatile sauce made with high-quality ingredients is ready to be a new favorite at your home in recipes like Chili Con Carne, a satisfying dish that can simmer on the stove while you help little ones with homework.

If your family and friends love sharing pasta on those cool, crisp evenings, Lasagna a la Sockarooni can help you impress guests as a quick, easy recipe elevated by creamy and buttery bechamel sauce.

Along with comforting foods, fall is also a time for giving. You can put tasty food on your own table while helping nourish and transform the lives of children who face adversity with Newman's Own's radically good commitment to "giving it all away." Cook time: 25 minutes
Servings: 9

Salted water
1 package lasagna noodles
1 jar Newman's Own Sockarooni Pasta Sauce
2 cups Parmigiano Reggiano cheese, grated

Bechamel Sauce:
4 tablespoons butter

Understanding is when you pay attention to others.

It's okay to forget what hurt you, but never forget what it taught you.

One run can change your day; many runs can change your life.

When you can't put your prayers into words, God hears your heart.

It's the friends we make along the way who help make the journey.

We can only be sad to be alive in those moments when our hearts are conscious of our treasures.

Doggies have a way of finding the people who need them and filling an emptiness we didn't even know we had.

God's plan for your life is so much bigger than you can even imagine.

The only thing complaining does is convince other people that you are not in control.

Silence is a lesson learned through life's many sufferings.

Failure will never overtake you if your determination to succeed is strong enough.

People buy into the leader before they buy into the vision.

My age doesn't bother me - it's the side effects.

The winner is a dreamer who never gives up.

Do what is right, not what is easy.

It's not about who is real to your face; it's about who stays loyal behind your back.

Do not judge by appearances; a rich heart may be under a poor coat.

Love yourself enough to surround yourself with people who respect you. The company you keep is a reflection of how you feel about yourself.

God is in control but He doesn't expect you to lean on the shovel and pray for a hole.

The enemy sends people in our lives just as God does. Be wise enough to know who to let in and who to let go.

When we feel we are being poisoned by stress, pressure, pain, and failures, the best antidote is to pray.

To be rich is not what you have in your bank account, but what you have in your heart.

Learn to be okay with not being invited, included or considered.

The best thing you can do is put your faith in God.

I am an imperfect person loved by a perfect God.

Never trust what you can only see; even salt looks like sugar.

A little progress each day adds up to success.

The best kind of friend is a praying friend.

Happy people make long time partners.

I hope something unexpectedly good happens to you this week.

When the world says, "give up," hope whispers, "try it one more time."

Doubt kills more dreams than failure ever will.

The easiest way to organize your stuff is to get rid of most of it.

Biggest lesson in life: don't ever think it can't happen to you.

God will never send you someone else's husband.

Whoever established the high road and how hard it should be should be fired.

When your children are teenagers, it's important to have a doggy so that someone in the house is happy to see you.

Every time you get upset at something, ask yourself if you were to die tomorrow, was it worth wasting your time being angry?

Stop looking for reasons to be unhappy. Focus on the things you do have, and the reasons why you should be happy.

If we magnified blessings as much as we magnify disappointments, we would all be much more happier.

As soon as the hospital made me put on one of those little gowns, I knew the end was in sight.

Faith is not about perfection, but direction.

The sky is not the limit. Your mind is.

Instant gratification takes too long.

You carry so much love in your heart. Give some to yourself.

Nothing matters more than the time we spend with those we love.

What God knows about us is more important than what others think.

Please tell your friends and family you love them. Life is so fragile.

If you are always trying to be normal, you will never know how amazing you can be.

Be the woman who fixes another woman's crown, without telling the world that it was crooked.

To ensure good health; eat lightly, breathe deeply, live moderately, cultivate cheerfulness, and maintain an interest in life.

There are people in your life who hate you secretly but laugh with you every day - beware of your surroundings.

If you're too busy to work out, your priorities need to change. I can't think of too many things more important than our health.

Good health is not something we can buy. But it can be an extremely valuable savings account.

People generally see what they look for, and hear what they listen for.

When some people can't find anything wrong with you, they will create it.

It's a wonderful thing to be optimistic. It keeps you healthy and it keeps you resilient.

Sometimes, things may not go your way, but the effort should be there every single day.

One cannot think well, love well, and sleep well, if one has not dined well.

Your mind is a terrible thing to waste.

Anger is like a thorn in the heart.

Consider how precious a soul must be, with both God and the devil after it.

God formed us. Sin deformed us. The Bible informs us. But Jesus transforms us.

Love is when the other person's happiness is more important than your own.

A fresh outlook, a different approach, a lighter attitude - today is a new day.

You cannot discover new oceans unless you have the courage to lose sight of the shore.

A kind heart is a fountain of gladness, making everything in its vicinity freshen into smiles.

What is defeat? Nothing but education; nothing but the first step to something better.

Me and mornings don't see eye to eye, mostly because I don't want to open mine.

At the end of the day, we find we can endure more than we thought we could.

Carry laughter with you wherever you go.

A STYLE THAT LASTS

Styles are always changing. Though we may look different on the outside, there are old truths and lasting principles that we still believe in. Found in the Bible and taught through the ages, God's ways guide us through life and give us hope. Attend His house of worship that "...you may tell of them to the next generation. For this God is our God for ever and ever; he will be our guide even to the end." (Psalm 48:13-14)

Obedience in Worshipping God Alone Exodus 20:1-11

The text before us consists of the first five commandments which God gave Moses upon the arrival of the children of Israel at Mount Sinai. Jesus provided commentary on all of the commandments when He answered the question, "Master, which is the greatest commandment of the law?" (Matt. 22:36-40). The Lord quoted Deuteronomy 6:5. To keep the greatest commandment, one must keep the first five in their entirety.

"And God spake all these words . . ." (v. 1). The setting is at Mount Sinai. The children of Israel arrived at and camped before the mount in the third month (Ex. 19:1). The Lord spoke these words approximately two and a half months following the exodus from Egypt. In the interim, the children of Israel had seen the Lord cause the waters of the sea to part before them, the bitterness of the water of Marah to disappear, manna to fall from heaven, and water to rush forth from the rock at Rephidim. The children of Israel had seen all these things but they still did not know the God who had done them.

New Testament believers know God. We know that the Lord gave His commandments to the children of Israel such that they might know Him. Exodus 19:16 records that all the people of the camp trembled when a thick cloud and thunders and lightnings came upon the mount. After the thunders and lightnings, Moses went upon the mount. Upon his return, he delivered the words by which His people should know God.

In verse 2, the Lord speaks directly to Israel, the people whom He brought out of slavery in Egypt. With these same words, the Lord speaks to New Testament believers in that He has made us free from the power of sin (Rom. 6:22). New Testament believers are to live by the commandments of Him who has made us free as Israel was to live by the commandments set before them in Exodus 20.

"Thou shalt have no other gods before me" (v. 3). Some scholars suggest that "before me" means "in addition to Me." This view is consistent with "thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart" (Deut. 6:5). If one loves the Lord with all one's heart, there is no room for any other.

"Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image . . ." (v. 4). A graven image is a representation of a god. God created man in His image (Gen. 1:26). Any graven image includes images of God which men might construct. A graven image of a human is not an image of God; it is an image of self. To worship self is to become as Lucifer who said, "I will be like the most High" (Isa. 14:14).

"... I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquities of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me" (v. 5). God demands faithfulness and exclusive worship.

Visiting the iniquities of the fathers upon the children means that the wrongs of the past have consequences that extend to the third and fourth generations. This most certainly was the case for the nation of Judah following the Babylonian conquest. Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego were innocent of the transgressions of their fathers but never dwelt in the land of their birth as adults. The Lord does not punish the sons for the transgressions of the fathers (see Deut. 24:16; Jer. 31:29-30; Ezek. 18:1-32).

"... showing mercy . . ." (v. 6). The Lord's mercy far exceeds His judgment for those who love Him and keep His commandments. Again, the scriptures document His mercy which spared Daniel and Mordecai and lifted them to positions of prominence.

"Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain . . ." (v. 7). Taking the Lord's name in vain is more, much more, than cursing. Taking the Lord's name in vain is any misuse of His name. Misuse includes using God to affirm that which is false (perjury), to express surprise, or to use His name when there is no clear purpose for doing so. God has called His people to lift up His name. Lifting up His name and misusing His name are as distant as west from east.

In verses 8 through 11, God tells His people to keep the sabbath day and why. The sabbath day is to be a day of rest. The Lord first instructed the children of Israel concerning the sabbath when He told Moses that He would cause bread to fall from heaven. God would provide a double portion of manna on the sixth day and none on the sabbath (Ex. 16:5). God rested on the seventh day. Israel was to rest from gathering on the seventh day. The instruction to keep the sabbath given at Sinai is part of Israel's covenantal agreement. Israel was to be a nation of priests who would declare God to all people through keeping the law given to Moses.

In keeping the sabbath, Israel would loudly declare the Lord God who "made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them" (v. 11). Israel was to declare the Lord who "blessed the sabbath day, and hallowed it." The Lord raised up a people to declare His righteousness to all peoples.

Worship requires obedience. New Testament believers have a better covenant than Israel in that Christ has fulfilled the law which no man can keep. Our better covenant is conditional upon believing upon Christ Jesus. Obedience to the Lord's commandments is proof of belief. Jesus has commanded us to love one another as He loves us. Jesus commanded believers to go and to teach and to baptize. We are to teach all people to do as Jesus has said. He has given Himself as our sin payment. "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (I Jn. 1:8-9).

He is not willing that any should perish but that all should come to Him in repentance.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF WEST VIRGINIA CHARLESTON

CASE NO. 22-0709-G-390P
MOUNTAINEER GAS COMPANY,
Surcharge on Infrastructure Improvements.

NOTICE OF FILING AND HEARING

On July 29, 2022, Mountaineer Gas Company (Mountaineer) filed its annual Application for approval of an Infrastructure Replacement and Expansion Program for 2023 (2023 IREP) with revised IREP rates for 2023, pursuant to W. Va. Code § 24-2-1k, which authorizes the Public Service Commission of West Virginia to approve cost recovery of projects to replace, upgrade and expand natural gas utility infrastructure that are deemed to be just and reasonable and in the public interest.

In its Application, Mountaineer forecasts capital investment for calendar year 2023 of $64.2 million as part of its multi-year plan. The 2023 IREP covers several categories of plant asset replacements and improvements, including mains, service lines, measurement and regulator stations, and house regulators. These plant investments are proposed to be made in Mountaineer service territories throughout the State. These investments are identified in the Application, which is on file and available for public inspection at the Commission's offices at 201 Brooks Street, Charleston, West Virginia and which may be viewed on the Commission's website, www.psc.state.wv.us.

Mountaineer proposes to recover costs associated with these investments through an additional increment within the fixed or volumetric base rate component of its rates, depending on the applicable rate schedule under which service is rendered, to be effective on January 1, 2023. Mountaineer projects that if the program and rate increase are approved as requested, the average monthly bill for its various classes of customers will be changed on January 1, 2023 as follows:

TYPE OF CUSTOMER	$ INCREASE	% INCREASE
Residential	$1.56	2.15%
Commercial	$4.44	1.50%
Large Commercial (*)	$204.93	0.36%
Industrial (*)	$302.96	0.68%
Resale	$50.40	1.17%

(*) - Increases for Large Commercial and Industrial customers assume transport customers purchase their natural gas at the same price as the Company's Purchased Gas Adjustment rate.

The increases shown above are compared to the rates currently in place and are based on averages of all customers in the indicated class. Each class may receive an increase greater or less than stated here. Individual customers may receive increases that are greater or less than average. Furthermore, the requested rates and charges are only a proposal and are subject to change (increase or decrease) by the Public Service Commission in its review of this filing. Any increase in rates and charges will not become effective until authorized and approved by the Public Service Commission.

The Commission set a procedural schedule, including a hearing date on the Application, if necessary, that will begin at 9:30 a.m., on November 17, 2022, continuing on November 18, 2022, at 9:30 a.m., if necessary, in the Howard M. Cunningham Hearing Room at the Commission's offices at 201 Brooks Street, Charleston, West Virginia. If no opposition to the Application is received by the Commission within one week of the hearing date, the hearing may be waived and the Commission may issue a final order within 150 days of the Application filing date. The Commission may cancel the hearing for good cause shown. Any interested persons intending to attend the hearing should monitor the Commission web docket.

Anyone desiring to intervene should file a written petition to intervene within 20 days following the date of this publication unless otherwise modified by Commission order. All requests to intervene should briefly state the reason for the request to intervene and comply with the rules on intervention set forth in the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure. All written comments and requests to intervene should state the case name and number and be addressed to the Commission Executive Secretary, P.O. Box 812, Charleston, West Virginia 25323. Public comments may also be filed online at <http://www.psc.state.wv.us/scripts/onlinecomments/default.cfm> by clicking the "Formal Case" link.
