On Tuesday, May 9, Putnam's three county commissioners met and voted to augment funding for the Jim Ridge Phase 2 Waterline Extension Project by $72,220. The additional funding will allow the project to include all of the add-ons that were not covered by the base bid. Low bidder for the total project was Chojnacki Construction of Hamlin with a base bid and alternative add-on bids totaling $3,551,900. By Betsy Allen

Not only did Joan C. Browning live through one of the most tumultuous decades of the 20th Century, she frequently found herself in the midst of the tumult. During her college days in the early 1960's, she became involved in the civil rights movement, becoming one of the famed Freedom Riders who traveled throughout the South to protest segregation.

Browning's involvement in the civil rights movement and her experiences as a Freedom Rider were the focus of the monthly luncheon of the Putnam County Democratic Women, on Saturday, May 7, at the Eleanor Town Hall. The title of her lecture was "From Whence We Came and Where Do We Go From

Born on a farm in rural Georgia, Browning enrolled in Georgia State College for Women in 1959. She soon became involved in the civil rights movement. The freedom ride in which she rode was the last one, which took place in December of 1961. She was arrested in Albany, Georgia, shortly

The Way We Were, The Way We Are

Mother's Day is a special day for mothers and their families. What greater gift from God is there than a child? I remember the day that I held my son the first time; I remember the day I held my daughter the first time. I have loved every minute of being a mom... I have loved my two miracles every day of their lives. My son is fifty-two; my daughter is almost fifty-one. Yes, they are close in age... not quite two years... they were best friends growing up... they were my life; they are my life... and now add their spouses and the grandchildren... Mother's Day is the best holiday ever.

I do not like big celebrations... I like low key. In Indiana, after church, the Taylors took me to lunch and gave me special gifts, those things I love. In Florida, we eat out or at the Burke's... gifts... the day is special because I am with those I love more than anyone else. Of course, I am treated special every day of my life... thus, Mother's Day comes everyday for this Mom/Nana.

up, I had two Mothers. My Mother and my Mama Coyner. They both mothered me; they both took care of me; they both loved me unconditionally. It was special in a way that others probably could not understand. I remember those days; memories fill my heart; the joy I felt with those two miraculous women cannot be duplicated. I remember.

Mother held my little hand as we walked on Main Street. We had snacks at Raines' Pharmacy; we looked at magazines and books. We ran in the jewelry store; we went to the bank (not that we had much money)... we bought groceries (usually “on time”) at Billups. Sometimes, we had the money to take in a movie at the tiny theatre on Main Street. Clarks Store held glorious gifts; I shopped there, later, for Mother and Mama Coyner. I had little money, but in those days, that little money bought much.

I remember; I remember, after I was married and had my own children, the family would meet at Shoney's. Mother would pay the bill without telling the rest of us. When Mike went to pay, there it was. Mother did it again. It was her gift to us. She loved being a Mother. I always gave her that Estee Lauder; I begged her not to wear it around me (gave me headaches). She loved Estee Lauder perfume... whew... LOL... escapes me. I remember after she died, I wished I could be with her, and I would even tolerate that scent if I could smell it on her again... alas...

Mothers hold the world in their hands... our kids are what we make them... they are the outcome of their outbringing (mothers and fathers). If our children don't do what we like, we might want to look at what we did when we were raising them. Of course, after a certain age, we don't have much influence, but the upbringing is important... love love love... not things...

To this day, my children have respected me and their father. They don't argue with us; they are never rude; they don't expect anything from us. They have always been independent; they have always known that they were responsible for their actions... it has been a great journey with my son and daughter... the journey continues... the memories continue.

Mother's Day is a time to celebrate our mothers; it is a time to thank our children for making us mothers; it is a great day; it is the best holiday... Happy Mother's Day to my readers... enjoy the day; celebrate yourself... enjoy your children... have a wonderful, great day because the way we were is the way we are forever... Mothers and thankful to God for making us Mothers. If I could have one day back, it would be driving up to Mother's house and seeing her sitting in her porch swing... waiting for us... oh, that picture in my mind will never leave...

to build bins, buying scales, building a supply shelter and getting the dry materials in, the first load of Ready Mix was ready to be delivered. This was in April 1953. Claxton and Suzy didn’t sleep that night, as this adventure was new to him and he wasn’t sure he had done everything right, so they loaded their five children in the car and went out to see if it was setting and it was.

Claxton continued to operate out of the Hurricane location until 1964, at which time they moved the plant to Poca along the Kanawha Rivers for the convenience of receiving materials on the river.

Claxton is the son of the late Harmon A and Elma Virginia Frazier Smith. He is married to the former Dorthy E. (Suzy) Sherman. They had five children, four of which still work in the business. Claxton Jr., is the Sales-Representative, Gary is Maintanence Engineer, Keith is Batch Manager and Marilyn works in the office. Suzy worked and managed the office until her retirement in 1988. Claxton Sr., was active in the business until his retirement in 1989. Pamela, their youngest child is deceased.

Claxton and Suzy have ten grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren that they hope will continue the business. Two of their grandchildren, Gary Smith Jr., and Robin Smith Davis, are now working in the business.

Claxton, while working to put the concrete plant in operation, continued to work at Union Carbide as a Crane Operator and worked with his bulldozer clearing lots and making roads for the citizens of Hurricane and the surrounding area as it was a growing community.

Claxton Smith & Sons continues to be a growing part of the Putnam County Community and operate as a family business. They take pride in the fact that their family members choose to work in different areas of the business and they provide a much needed product to the area.

A Boost for the Putnam County Animal Shelter

By Vanessa Clark

Students, parents, and teachers of First Baptist Academy of Hurricane donated to Putnam County Animal Shelter on May 12th. Director Angie Hayslett helped by getting the word out there that the Academy was taking up donations. They took on this project not only to help the animal shelter but to teach the children compassion and how to care for animals. These skills help students to care about themselves, the people around them, animals, and the environment.

Teachers also talked to the kids about adopting from a shelter. Don’t adopt one from a friend; or pet shop. Adopt a pet from a shelter instead. Once you adopt a dog or cat from a shelter, there is a space for another dog or cat that does not have to live on the street anymore. When the children were asked whether they would think about getting a shelter animal the next time they got a pet, most of the children raised their hands. The kids were excited about this project and could not wait to bring in items to help the animals at the shelter.

If you would like to help the Putnam County Animal Shelter, they could use medication, hydrocortisone spray, wound care spray, paper towels, bleach, dish soap, window cleaner, scrub brushes, sponges, and towels. The shelter also has a wish list on Amazon, which can be accessed by going to <https://www.amazon.com/hz/wishlist/ls/3QQUTKTMJBKK>.

Zoology Zone and Science Center to Open at Valley Park

Wednesday, May 10th.

The transition of the building was made possible by relocating and renaming the Reptile House and Rescue which was housed at the Huntington Mall. Reptile House and Rescue originally started as a 501(c)(3) nonprofit named the Mountain State Reptile Rescue. The Zoology Zone and Science Center will continue to operate as a 501(c)(3) nonprofit. McKee stated that the name change reflects an expanded focus that encompasses more than snakes, lizards, and a rescue mission. The stated goal of the Zoology Zone Science Center is to serve as a resource and a hands-on immersive learning opportunity for families, for kids, and for adults of all ages. The ultimate goal is for visitors experience and enjoy different areas of science.

McKee said that the summer camps which were offered by the Reptile House and Rescue will continue but in a different format. There will be back-to-school summer camps two weeks prior to the start school in Putnam and surrounding counties.

The cost of general admission is less than wave pool admission. The cost is $7 for adults, $5 for children, and half off for first responders and military personnel. Family passes are available at $35 per month. The center will employ three full-time and five part-time staffers.

Outlook on Life

I have clothes on my back,
And shoes on my feet.
Plus a full cup of coffee,
Waking me up with it's heat.
I have a roof over head,
And places to rest.

I have people who love me,
My enemies are few.
I don't waste time in worry,
When there is nothing to do.
I try to roll with the punches,
Giving thanks for the wins.
And strive for a positive outlook before Martin Luther King's arrest in the same city. She relates that people often ask her if she followed Dr. King to jail, to which she replies that it was the other way around.

The Freedom Riders were activists who protested segregation by riding public buses through southern states from May through December of 1961. Although United States Supreme Court decisions Morgan v. Virginia (1946) and Boynton v. Virginia (1960) had deemed that segregation on public buses was unconstitutional, many Southern states continued to enforce segregation. The Freedom Riders brought public awareness to injustice and discrimination by riding interstate buses through the South. While riding a bus is a very passive act, the riders challenged the status quo by riding in interracial pairs and choosing seats which had been designated for whites only.

Freedom Riders came from a variety of social and racial backgrounds, and many of them were college students and young adults under the age of thirty. They often faced violent persecution for their defiance of the system. Angry white segregationist mobs, often organized by the Ku Klux Klan, would attack the buses and beat the riders with iron pipes, baseball bats, chains, and broken off bottles. Buses were bombed or set on fire, and in one incident, the mob tried to burn the riders alive by preventing their escape from a burning bus. Law enforcement would often look the other way when it came to the barbarity of the segregationist, and in some cities, violence against the riders was even sanctioned by local government. White Freedom Riders were often singled out for persecution, because the segregationists considered them traitors to their race. In addition to being subjected to mob violence, riders were arrested by law enforcement, their numbers filling local jails. To keep up morale and peacefully protest their situation, the riders would often sing freedom songs and gospel hymns.

Browning discussed the history of the civil rights movement, introducing listeners to some of the brave individuals who defied segregation and other discriminatory laws throughout the years. She also discussed some of the political history of Telfair County, Georgia, where she grew up. Corruption and racial discrimination were rampant there in the early 1960's, and voting laws made it difficult for black voters to cast their ballots. Constituents had to use pencils when filling out their ballots, and many of those whose votes were counted had been dead for

After the Freedom Rides, Browning continued to work for racial equality. She volunteered with the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), one of the main student organizations championing civil rights in the 1960's. She became involved with the Freedom Quilting Bee, a quilt co-op based in Alabama. Later she would come to West Virginia as part of the Cabin Creek co-op. She made Greenbrier County her home in 1976, and graduated from West Virginia State College (now West Virginia State University) in 1994.

After the conclusion of Browning's lecture, Delegate Michael Pushkin thanked her for her life's work.

The Putnam County Democratic Women's Club meets every third Saturday at noon at the Italian Grille in Putnam Village behind Liberty Square.

Life today may leave us feeling overwhelmed – swept away by too much to do with no relief in sight. Where can we turn for help? Perhaps our relief and solutions aren’t “out there”; they are “in here”, in our soul, where God’s spirit resides. In Matthew 11:28, our Heavenly Father reassures us... “Come to me all you that are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest.” God waits for you in His house, He wants you to come into His presence, to sit and meditate upon His Word. During this time of calming strength, ask Him to live within your heart and soul.

The True Vine

John 15:1-17

The entirety of the text before us consists of words which Jesus spoke to the eleven disciples who walked with Him to Gethsemane following the last supper. Judas was not present. The Lord’s words are for the ears of all who believe.

The picture which Jesus placed before the disciples is that of a vineyard tended by a husbandman (God the Father). It is a vineyard consisting of one vine, and that vine is Christ Jesus.

In verse 2, Jesus made it known that both productive (fruitful) branches and non-productive branches would shoot forth from Him, the vine. After a period of time, the husbandman would remove branches that failed to produce fruit. After removing these branches, the husbandman would prune (purge) the fruitful branches such that they might bring forth more fruit. Jesus reveals the identity of the fruitful branches by implication in verse 3 and directly in verse 5.

In verse 3, Jesus announced, “Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you.” This announcement is linked to the preceding verse by “Now.” To what, in verse 2, does Jesus refer? Verse 2 is about removing unproductive branches and pruning (purging) productive branches. In verse 3, the disciples possess a new state of cleanliness. The link between the disciples’ cleanliness and that which transpired in verse 2 is made clear in verse 5. The disciples are the productive branches which were made clean by that which the husbandman did in verse 2.

The link between verse 2 and verse 3 is immediately apparent in the original Greek text of John’s gospel. The word which is translated as “purgeth” means to make clean by removal of unproductive wood. The cleansing action of verse 2 made the disciples clean in verse 3.

In announcing “ye are clean through the word I have spoken unto you,” Jesus proclaimed to the disciples that they were the branches which God the Father (the husbandman) had cleansed such that they might bring forth fruit and more fruit. Knowledge that one has been selected by God to be an agent of His will is cause for one to act.

Each disciple was to produce much fruit. In verse 4, Jesus informed the disciples of the manner in which they were to produce fruit. He said: “Abide in me.” To abide in Christ, one must follow the Son’s example of obedience to the Father’s will. “Abide in me” means to do as Jesus did. He sought the Father’s will without ceasing.

The words, “Abide in me, and I in you,” are spoken to all who have the ears to hear. They are spoken to every branch which has not been removed from the vine. They are spoken to each and every branch that will ever bring forth fruit. They are spoken to all who know that they are totally dependent upon the one and only true vine. They are words spoken to all who know that they are saved by grace through faith given by God (Eph. 2:8, 9). A branch, separated from the vine, cannot produce fruit (v. 5). Believers separated from Christ are powerless.

Branches separated from the vine wither and are cast into the fire and burned (v. 6). There are some who take the burning of the separated and withered branches to mean that salvation is conditional upon being attached to the true vine. This view is not supported by the actual words of the Greek language in which John recorded his gospel. There are multiple Greek words which are translated as burn or burned. Burning for purpose of destruction is a word different from the word for burning with the purpose of producing light. The word used in verse 6 means light-producing burning. The branches which the husbandman separated from the true vine are not destroyed; the separated branches are used to produce light for men. The light from burning branches flares up, flickers, glows, then fades. That light does not produce fruit. Only the branches that abide in the vine are fruitful. Fruitful branches radiate the eternal light of the Word which came into the world (Jn. 1:4).

In verse 7, Jesus said, “. . . ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.” Psalm 37:4 states a like promise — the Lord supplies the desires of the heart to all who delight in Him. Receiving the desires of the heart is not dependent upon that which is asked. It is dependent upon having the right heart. When believers abide in Jesus and He in us, our hearts become right. Our hearts become as His, ever seeking the Father’s will. One cannot change the character of his heart. God transforms the hearts of them who abide in the Son and the Son in them. Evidence of that transformation is seen in answered prayer.

“Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples” (v. 8). God is glorified by the branches which bear much fruit. The branches have no strength in themselves but every branch that abides in the Son and the Son in him is given power, power unlimited, to do the Father’s will. God glorifies Himself in all who ask that He purge them of their dead wood.

Abiding in Jesus means to abide in His love being filled with joy (v. 11). He has commanded us to love one another as He loves us. If we do as He says, we are His friends (v. 14). In the Old Testament, only Abraham (II Chron. 20:7, Isa. 41:8) and Moses, by implication (Ex. 33:11), are called friends of God.

Let us pray and be purged such that we become vessels for His glory. He would have us abide in Him. He wants to call us “Friend!”

AG Morrisey Warns Consumers of Jury Duty Scam

West Virginia Attorney General Patrick Morrisey is warning consumers about a phone scam in which a person receives a call threatening arrest or other punishment for missing jury duty.

The Attorney General's Office received a report from the Administrative Office of the Courts for the West Virginia Judiciary regarding scam calls for the circuit courts in Putnam, Preston, Nicholas and Wood counties.

"These calls can be unnerving," Attorney General Morrisey said. "No one wants to get tangled up in legal issues, however it's crucial to call local authorities when you receive such a call."

In those cases, the scammer would call consumers, claiming they have missed jury duty and payment needs to be made to avoid arrest.

"Scammers are constantly devising new schemes to scare consumers into giving them their money," Attorney General Morrisey said. "If you get a suspicious call, even if it comes from a number that looks legitimate, don't feel pressured to act immediately. Pause and give our office a call—it might save you from potentially being scammed."

Scammers have been known to pose as federal marshals and/or local law enforcement. They often attempt to boost their credibility by spoofing official phone numbers, stealing badge numbers and misrepresenting themselves as named police officers.

Consumers can do a few things to avoid falling prey:

Be wary of any demand for payment via prepaid card or wire transfer.

Never share personal information without verifying the identity of the recipient.

Don't trust a name or number just because it appears on caller ID.

Be suspicious of off-hour phone calls and those from an unidentified number.

Residents who receive a call like this should call their local circuit clerk's office, sheriff's office and/or federal courthouse to verify if they missed a jury summons.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF WEST VIRGINIA CHARLESTON

CASE NO. 23-0380-G-390P

UNION OIL & GAS, INC.
Reconciliation of 2022 Infrastructure and Replacement and Expansion Program (IREP) and Rate Adjustment

NOTICE OF FILING AND HEARING

On May 1, 2023, Union Oil & Gas, Inc. (Union) filed an Application for approval of an Infrastructure Replacement and Expansion Program (IREP) Rate Adjustment under the provisions of W.Va. Code §24-2-1k, which authorizes the Public Service Commission of West Virginia to approve expedited cost recovery of projects to replace, upgrade and expand natural gas utility infrastructure that are deemed to be just, reasonable and in the public interest.

In its Application, Union proposes to reconcile the volumetric base rate component of its rates in conjunction with its investment with actual levels of investments, costs, and associated revenues beginning August 2021 and ending July 2022. The project is complete and Union is not proposing any future investment at this time. This Application is on file and available for public inspection at the Commission offices at 201 Brooks Street, Charleston, West Virginia.

Union proposes to recover costs associated with this investment through an additional increment within the volumetric base rate component of its rates, to be effective on September 28, 2023. Union projects that if the program and rate increment adjustment are approved as requested, the average monthly bill for its various classes of customers will be changed on September 28, 2023, as follows:

	($)	INCREASE	% INCREASE
Residential (4 mcf usage)	$	0.33	0.53%
Commercial (21 mcf usage)	$	1.73	0.64%
Public Authority (30 mcf usage)	$	2.47	0.65%
Transportation (1,052 mcf usage)	$	46.85	1.35%

The increases shown above are compared to the rates currently in place and are based on averages of all customers in the indicated class. Each class may receive an increase greater or less than stated here. Individual customers may receive increases that are greater or less than average.

The Commission scheduled an evidentiary hearing on the Application if necessary, that will begin at 9:30 a.m., on July 18, 2023, in Hearing Room No. 2, at the Commission's offices at 201 Brooks Street, Charleston, West Virginia. If no opposition to the Application is received by the Commission within one week of the hearing date, the hearing may be waived and the Commission may issue a final order within 150 days of the Application filing date.

Anyone desiring to intervene should file a written petition to intervene within twenty days following the date of this publication unless otherwise modified by Commission order. All requests to intervene should briefly state the reason for the request to intervene and comply with the rules on intervention set forth in the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure. The Commission will receive public comments until the beginning of the hearing. All written comments and requests to intervene should state the case name and number and be addressed to Karen Buckley, Executive Secretary, P.O. Box 812, Charleston, West Virginia 25323. Public comments may also be filed online at <http://www.psc.state.wv.us/scripts/onlinecomments/default.cfm> by clicking the "Formal Case" link.

	(Tariff Form 8)
PUBLIC NOTICE OF CHANGE IN RATES WEST VIRGINIA-AMERICAN WATER COMPANY
Notice is hereby given that WEST VIRGINIA-AMERICAN WATER COMPANY, a public utility, has filed with the PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF WEST VIRGINIA a tariff containing a requested increase in rates, tolls, and charges for furnishing water service to approximately 168,000 customers in Boone, Braxton, Cabell, Clay, Fayette, Harrison, Jackson, Kanawha, Lewis, Lincoln, Logan, Mason, Mercer, Putnam, Raleigh, Roane, Summers, Wayne, and Webster Counties.
The tariff filing will also directly or indirectly affect those customers of the following public service districts, regional development authorities, municipalities, or other governmental subdivisions who, under agreements approved by the Public Service Commission, are charged water rates that are in whole or in part based on the rates of the Company:
Boone County Public Service District Cumberland Public Service District Flatwoods Canoe-Run Public Service District Jumping Branch-Nimitz Public Service District Kanawha County Regional Development Authority Lashmeet Public Service District Lewis County Economic Development Authority New Haven Public Service District Oakvale Road Public Service District Putnam County Building Commission Salt Rock Public Service District Webster County Economic Development Authority
Some of the customers receiving service from these entities under Operation and Maintenance Agreements with the Company also pay a surcharge in addition to the metered water rates. These surcharge amounts were approved by the Public Service Commission in prior cases, and those surcharges will not increase or otherwise be affected by this filing.
The proposed increased rates and charges will become effective February 25, 2024, unless otherwise ordered by the Public Service Commission, and will produce, on a total Company basis, $41,175,752 in additional annual net water revenues over present rate revenues, or an overall increase in revenues of approximately 22.5%. The $41,175,752 consists of an increase in base rates of $51,308,960 in annual revenue and a decrease in the Company's Distribution System Investment Charge ("DSIC") of $10,133,208 in annual revenue, with such revenues being collected from customers as more fully described herein. This increase includes an allocation of the wastewater revenue requirement to the water revenue requirement to support the same percentage increase in rates for both water and wastewater customers. The Company is further proposing a new set of low income tariffs, and other rate mechanisms, the impacts of which are reflected in the rate increase schedule below.
The Company's proposed low income tariff for water and wastewater service that includes multiple tiers of discounts based on different levels of household income stated as multiples of Federal Poverty Level ("FPL"). The driving principle behind the Company's proposed low income tariff is to provide all participating customers discounts such that the expected bill for basic water or wastewater service will be no more than 3% of their annual household income.
The proposed tariff discounts are as follows:
Low Income Tariff Discount		Discount
0%-50% Federal Poverty Level		65%
50%-100% Federal Poverty Level		50%
100%-150% Federal Poverty Level		30%
150%-200% Federal Poverty Level		15%
The Company expects that the Commission will order the suspension of the new rates and charges for the full 300-day suspension period under W. Va. Code §24-2-4a, or until February 25, 2024.
The following schedule shows the change from rates currently in effect based on representative levels of consumption and the monthly dollar and percentage changes including the Company's proposed allocation of the revenue requirement between water and wastewater customers and the impact of its proposed new low income tariffs. The modification of any of these components will impact this schedule. The average monthly bill for the various classes of customers will be changed as follows:

Mobile Lung Cancer Screening Unit Coming to Hurricane

LUCAS, a first of its kind, state-of-the-art mobile lung cancer screening unit, will visit Putnam County offering low-dose computed tomography (LDCT) scans. LUCAS

A service of WVU Medicine-WVU Hospitals and the WVU Cancer Institute, LUCAS will be at Valley Health Care Systems–Hurricane from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on May 24. For an appointment, call 304-760-6040.

The lung cancer screenings are billed to private insurance, Medicaid, or Medicare. Uninsured patients living in West Virginia who meet screening criteria can receive their lung cancer screening on LUCAS through the generosity of grant funding and donations. A physician’s order and prior authorization from insurance are required to get screened. Appointments must be made 14 or more days in advance of the visit to allow time for insurance pre-authorizations.

LUCAS, an acronym for Lung Cancer Screening, builds upon the success and infrastructure established by Bonnie’s Bus. In West Virginia, more people die of lung cancer than colorectal, prostate, and breast cancer combined. LUCAS travels to the 42 counties in the state without easy access to lung cancer screening.

Similar to mammography, regular lung cancer screening can detect cancer early, when it is easier to treat and cure. Both units are part of the WVU Cancer Institute Mobile Cancer Screening Program and work in collaboration with a statewide partnership of clinicians, public health professionals, and other community leaders to reduce the number of deaths from breast and lung cancer in West Virginia.

For information on LUCAS, see WVUCancer.org/LUCAS.

Four Putnam Students Regional Winners of ‘Kids Kick Opioids’ Design Contest

West Virginia Attorney General Patrick Morrisey announced 10 students from Metro Valley as regional winners of the office’s seventh Kids Kick Opioids contest, a competition designed to spur creativity and raise awareness of prescription painkiller abuse.

Regional winners are Julia Smith, Jenna-Claire Thompson and Beckett Stout of Hurricane Middle School in Putnam County; Gavin Krofcheck of Winfield Middle School in Putnam County; Emily Morgan of Nichols Elementary School in Cabell County; Alyson Bowe, Aubrey Kinkade and Bayla Harrison of Andrew Jackson Middle School in Kanawha County; and Kara Kinser and Alexis Mounts of Buffalo Middle School in Wayne County.

“Drug abuse needlessly claims too many lives, and our hope is the entries from these artistic students will bring greater awareness and change—these entries really showcase the tremendous talent of our elementary and middle school participants,” Attorney General Morrisey said. “These artworks underscore the impact of the opioid epidemic on our young students. They are growing up in a time when drug abuse runs rampant. Our hope is their artwork will bring about greater awareness and a renewed commitment to change.”

The Attorney General received a total of 2,347 entries from 2,450 students at 66 middle and elementary schools across West Virginia. The submissions included a mix of drawings, poems and other designs aimed at promoting awareness.

Judges recognized winning entries from 65 students overall. Those designs will be displayed in the State Capitol in the fall.

The statewide winner and runner up will be announced soon. That winning entry will appear in newspapers across West Virginia as the Attorney General’s next public service announcement.

Kids Kick Opioids represents one of many initiatives through which the Attorney General has sought to combat West Virginia’s drug overdose death rate, including a lawsuit against the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration that achieved sweeping reforms to the nation’s drug quota system.

The Attorney General also has fought the opioid crisis with civil litigation, multistate initiatives, funding to target opioid abuse, criminal prosecutions, new technology, engagement with the faith-based community and education.

The West Virginia Board of Pharmacy, West Virginia Association of School Nurses and the Capitol Police assisted the Attorney General in judging the public service announcement contest.
